

WHO DISCLAIMER

The information contained and accessed on WIKWEMIKONGHERITAGE.org (the "Site") is provided by the staff of the Wikwemikong Heritage Organization ("WHO"), for general guidance and is intended to offer the user general information of interest. The information provided is not intended to replace or serve as substitute for any accounting, tax or other professional advice, consultation or service. You should consult with a professional in the respective accounting, tax or other professional area.

Based on specific facts or circumstances, the application of laws and regulations may vary.

Based on the fundamental universal condition of the electronic communication process, the WHO does not guarantee or warrant the Site will be uninterrupted, without delay, error-free, omission-free, or free of viruses.

Therefore, the information is provided "as is" without warranties of any kind, express or implied, including accuracy, timeliness and completeness. In no event shall the WHO, its related partners, managing directors, principals, agents or employees be liable for any direct, indirect, incidental, special, exemplary, punitive, consequential or other damages whatsoever (including, but not limited to, liability for loss of use, data or profits), without regard to the form of any action, including but not limited to contract, negligence or other tortious actions, arising out of or in connection with the Site, any content on or accessed by use of the Site, or any copying, display or other use hereof.

As content on the Site is copyrighted, any unauthorized use of any materials on the Site may violate copyright, trademark and other laws. Should a user download the materials on the Site for personal or non-commercial use, the user must retain all copyright and other proprietary notices contained in the original materials on any copies of the material. Materials on the Site may not be modified, reproduced or publicly displayed, performed or distributed or used for any public or commercial purposes.

Third Party Links are provided as a convenience to our users. The WHO does not control and is not responsible for any of these sites or their content.

WHO PRIVACY STATEMENT

The WHO believes that the responsible use of personal information collected on its web site is critical to its business objectives and reputation. As part of our commitment to privacy, we have adopted this Online Privacy Statement.

The extent and type of information we receive from you on our external websites depends on what you do when visiting our sites. If you visit our site to read or download information, much of the information we collect -- such as the domain from which you access the Internet, the date and time you access our site, and the Internet address of the Web site from which you linked directly to our site --is statistical only and not personally identifiable. We use information about the number of visitors and their use of the site in aggregate form to make our site more useful and attractive to you.

Personally identifiable information such as email addresses supplied by the visitor is utilized to respond to your requests and to provide you with further information about the WHO's services. For example, if you send us an e-mail message requesting information about the WHO, we will use your e-mail address and other information you supply to respond to your request. If we intend to use your personal information to tell you about other WHO services, we will tell you so and give you an opportunity to decline to receive such communications. If you send us a resume or CV to apply online for a position with the WHO, we will use the information provided to match you with available opportunities. We do not share personal information with third parties except as necessary to carry out our business or as required by law or other legal processes, and we never sell your personal information.

In the future, some parts of our site may invite you to register and provide information about yourself. We use the information you provide to personalize your online journey and bring you the content we believe you want. If you would like to change your registration information or no longer wish to receive information from us, please click here and follow the directions posted on that page.

Your personal information will be retained only for as long as necessary to fulfill the purposes for which the information was collected or as required by law.

The WHO has technological and operational security policies and procedures in place to protect your personally identifiable information from loss, misuse, alteration or unintentional destruction. Our personnel who have access to the data will maintain the confidentiality of such information.

At some places in the site, "cookies" may be used to enhance your online experience. Most browsers now recognize when a "cookie" is offered, and permit you to refuse or accept it. If you are not sure whether your browser has this capability, you should check with the software manufacturer or your Internet service provider. We do not use "cookies" to track the navigational habits of identified visitors.

Personal data collected by the WHO may be transferred to associate companies where it is necessary to meet the purpose for which you have submitted the information. By submitting data on the WHO's web site, you are providing explicit consent to transborder transmission of data collected on the web site.

The WHO understands the importance of protecting children's privacy, especially in an online environment. Our sites are not intentionally designed for or directed at children 13 years of age or younger. It is our policy never to knowingly collect or maintain information about anyone under the age of 13.

The WHO recognizes its responsibility for protecting the privacy of your personal information. If you have questions or comments about our administration of your personal information, please contact us by filling out the form on the contact menu. You may also use this address to communicate any concerns you may have regarding compliance with our Privacy Policy.

Miigwech Ga Bizhayin!
(Thank You For Visiting!)